UNDERSTANDING YOUR STATEMENT

How many statements will I get?

If you have more than one location, you can provide an email address for each of your locations. You can use the same bank account for all claim payments.

If you have two bank accounts associated with one email address, you'll also receive two statements – one for each bank account.

Why are only patient initials included in my statement?

To protect your patients' privacy, we do not include full names on the statements.

Why haven't I received my payment?

Payments can take up to 48 hours to be deposited into your bank account. You may receive your email statement before the funds are deposited.

What type of claims are on my statement?

Only claims that result in a payment to you are included on the statement.

Claims not included in your statement

- Claims that resulted in no payment
- Claims that were voided the same day they were submitted
- Claims where payment was made to the member

I've submitted multiple claims. Will I receive a single payment for them all?

Each claim that resulted in a payment will be paid and displayed separately on the statement.

This simplifies your record keeping as you will be able to see each separate claim submission and bank deposit.
